REPORT RUSSIA FREES MISSING U. S. TOURISTS

Washington, Oct. 14 (AP)—

Two American tourists missing in Russia since mid-August were reported today to have been released by Russian authorities after being detained for several weeks.

The two are Harvey C. Bennett of Bath, Me., and Mark I. Kaminsky of Jefferson township, Cass county, Mich.

Aids of Rep. John J. McFall, D., Cal., said they had been told by the state department that Bennett and Kaminsky had been detained for violation of photographic regulations. Authorities reported today that the soviet foreign office had said the men have been released and will be coming home shortly.
